

Individual Placement & Support: Supported Employment

We are dedicated to enhancing the quality of life of people with mental health and substance use issues. Work plays a central role in recovery, so our goal is to help people gain and retain employment. We use a person-centered holistic approach and are trained in the best practices model.

As you begin your journey into the IPS-SE program, you are taking an important step toward working independently and finding employment that fits your interests, abilities and preferences.

Our mission is to build networks that help people find long-term employment through local and regional partnerships within the business community. RHA offers a win-win solution for skilled workers eager to join the workforce and for area businesses seeking qualified, reliable employees.

Why Supported Employment?

Supported employment provides individuals with the opportunity to develop critical skills including responsibility, self-sufficiency, and independence.

While your RHA career coach may accompany you on the job, they will not interfere with your work experience. Instead, our trained professionals will provide encouragement and one-on-one support as you explore new opportunities and careers.
